

Weekly update:

What a lovely week back after the half term holiday. We are pleased to welcome all the pupils back and hope that you all had a lovely rest.

This week we have been trialling additional options for the pupils that they have suggested. We have found that the pupils have really enjoyed these additional options as next week the tutors will send out the timetables with the definitive choices for the end of the academic year.

We are also working hard on the plans for next year. We aim to keep things consistent for pupils and will keep you updated.

Have a lovely weekend!

Kate Jasper
